Cass Railroad Gets Extra Engine

"Toot-toot!" No. 2 can ring out reassuringly come next year if "chug chug" No. 1 falters on the Cass run. The Cass Scenic Railroad will get a "bud dy" Shay locomotive under an O. K. to spend $20,000 for this purpose made October 1, by the Federal Housing and Home Administration, Resources Director Warden Lane announced last week. This is grant money.

Over at Rainelle, the Meadow River Lumber Company has that companion Shay Engine. A smoke-belching coal burner, this $20,000 in dependable chugs assures passengers a lay-over will not be long on the Cheat Mountain run next year should the other Shay puff out. They also get considerable amounts of specially made and almost irreplaceable parts.

Only a Shay engine can negotiate the incredibly steep grades above Cass. Every wheel is a drive wheel—takes 10 per cent incline like a squirrel, has more traction than a thousand-legged worm, and is scarcer than a pocket watch. The Mountain State's now world-famous mountain railroad already has hauled more passengers than it did at this same time last year—30,000 compared to 23,000.

Under federal grant funds, the Cass Railroad will be extended to Bald Mountain next year—12 miles—and this terminus will be developed and will feature a primeval spruce forest, and overlooks will offer visitors exceptional views of the Greenbrier River Valley.

Runs will continue on Saturdays and Sundays at 11, 1, and 3, through October 25. Trips will be resumed May 15 next year for weekend runs and then on June 12 for daily rides.

We want to apologize to some of our readers, particularly around Cloverlick. Several times some papers were folded crooked, more than usual were ruined and we ran out of papers. Cloverlick happened to be the last galley stamped and they got some papers that weren't in the best condition. We will try to put in enough extra papers to take care of these and hope it won't happen again.

The Department of Natural Resources announces that a ten-year old study of the wild turkey in Eastern Greenbrier and Pocahontas Counties has been completed. On October 1 the last mortar-thrown nets were fired, capturing 5 turkeys. This made a total of 303 birds captured and released at point of capture this summer and fall. During the ten years, 1,683 were banded and released at point of capture. Actually about 2000 were captured because many were caught more than once. A complete report of the study will be published.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Fifty years ago on September 15, 1914, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Underwood, of near Huntersville, were married by the Rev. Johnson in the beautifully decorated home of a very close friend, Mrs. George Clendenen, and the late Mr. Clendenen, at Seebert. Mrs. Underwood, the former Carrie Dell Perkins, was a beautiful bride in a white lace dress, white kid pumps, and a head piece of orange blossoms. Her maid of honor, Miss Flossie Vie, is now Mrs. Marvin Dunbrack, of Marlinton.

On September 13, open house was held at their home near Huntersville to help them celebrate the golden event. Mr. Underwood looked handsome in a blue suit and a gold carnation boutonniere.

The living room was decorated with fall flowers from her garden, the dining room carried out the traditional gold colors. A three tiered, beautifully decorated wedding cake topped by a gold 50 highlighted the dining table along with a crystal bowl of gold color fruit punch. In the background on the buffet was a bouquet of yellow marigolds with gold candles on either side. Olive and Glenna greeted guests and took care of the guest book while their daughters-in-law, Alice and Truda, served cake, punch or coffee, and other goodies to each guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Underwood were happy to have their children and their families all home for their special day: Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Smith, of Fairmont; Mr. and Mrs. Hoil Underwood and children, Sheila, Bruce and Leslie, of Bristol, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bonnell and children, Alda and Demaris, of Vienna, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Ed n Underwood and children, Kelvin, Blain and Karen, of Fairfax, Virginia, and Corbett Rider, who made his home at the Underwoods until he went to work in Washington, D. C., was there also. His wife was unable to attend, as they area expecting the stork soon.

Many friends and relatives dropped in throughout the afternoon and evening to extend their best wishes. Many came from Marlinton, Huntersville, Durbin, Minnehaha Springs and neighboring communities. A special guest attending was her maid of honor, Mrs. Marvin Dunbrack, and Mr. Dunbrack. Those attending from the greatest distance were: Elvin Perkins, of Jacksonville, Florida; Thomas Perkins, of Payton, Kentucky; Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Johnson and sons, Larry and Gary, of Springfield, Virginia; and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rexrode and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Steppan, of Wisconsin, who were guests in the home of Mr. Rexrode's sister, Mrs. John Hively, of Dunmore.

Many lovely gifts and cards were received from those attending as well as many from those who were unable to attend. A most welcome phone call was received during the afternoon from a niece, Mrs. Ola Underwood Redding, of Euclid, Ohio, extending best wishes.

The following waters in Pocahontas County are closed from October 5 until 5 a. m. October 7, to allow for fall trout stocking in preparation for fishing during the hunting season:

Cranberry River, Seneca Lake, West Fork of Greenbrier River, Knapps Creek and Williams River.

Here's How You Can HELP WEST VIRGINIA MOVE AHEAD
... By Voting For Hulett Smith For Governor

This year, every citizen has an unusual chance to help West Virginia move ahead! You can do it by voting for Hulett Smith, Democratic candidate for Governor. In fact, vote for the entire Democratic ticket!

Hulett Smith and his fellow candidates on the Democratic ticket are pledged to a program that will benefit every citizen of this state. Throughout the state, traveling in this campaign, Hulett Smith has pledged that as Governor he will concentrate his work on the big issues of jobs, roads and schools.

• JOBS: Hulett Smith has definite programs to provide more jobs for thousands of workers... for the young folks getting out of school and for those older working people who find themselves unemployed.

• ROADS: West Virginia needs more and better roads. Hulett Smith has outlined a far-reaching program designed to speed up road-building throughout West Virginia. That means construction of interstate highways, more and better primary and secondary roads, and improvement of existing roads.

• SCHOOLS: Hulett Smith, with five children of his own, knows the need for good schools. He is pledged to build more schools, to improve existing schools, and to see that teachers get fair pay based on ability and experience.

As a native of West Virginia, as a successful businessman, Hulett Smith of Beckley has broad experience, keen judgment, and the imagination to develop new programs.

He understands how to work with the people in local communities to get things done. He also is on friendly terms with leading figures in our federal government in Washington. Hulett Smith knows the value of close cooperation between our state and federal governments.

And he knows how to do it. As the first Commissioner of Commerce, starting in 1961, Hulett Smith worked with great energy. He brought many new industries and thousands of new jobs to West Virginia.

All this makes Hulett Smith a fine choice for our next Governor. He knows our state. He has great ability. His integrity and honesty are widely recognized. He is trusted in West Virginia and Washington. He is a man who knows how to get things done—and done right.

Good reasons, all of them, why you should vote for Hulett Smith and for all the other candidates on the Democratic ticket. Vote for a better West Virginia, for a better America.
